THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

REFUSE TO MEET DEMANDS

Railroad Heads Propose Arbitration as a Solution of the Difficulties

TO THE LEADERS OF THE UNIONS

Latter Reject Proposition and Refuse Commerce Commission Mediation

New York, June 16.—The railroad managers yesterday notified the heads of the four railroad brotherhoods of employees that they could not meet their demands for an eight-hour day and time and a half for overtime work.

They proposed arbitration as a solution of their difficulties, or submission of the dispute to the interstate commerce commission.

A. R. Garretson, head of the conductors' organization, announced on receiving the railroads' answer that the arbitration proposition was not acceptable and that the proposition to submit the matter to the interstate commerce commission was impracticable, because that body had no power to settle the dispute.

The matter will be referred to the men for decision, however. Yesterday was expected to determine whether it would be necessary for the unions to vote on the question of declaring a strike to enforce their demands.

The union leaders had declared in advance any compromise would be rejected if it abolished double pay for two classes of service performed by the same employee. They said they were willing to compromise on the other main issues.

It was said yesterday that five weeks would be required to take a strike vote and that when such a vote was completed another conference with the railway managers would be held before putting a strike into effect.

BASEBALL BRIEFS.

New York received its first shut out of the season Wednesday when Lavender held them to one hit, this being by Kauff in the seventh inning, when his grounder took a bad hop from Lavender.

President Johnson notified Manager Donovan that he would be suspended for three days on account of his argument with Umpire Hill in Tuesday's game.

Yesterday was Jimmy Callahan's first appearance in Boston as a National league manager. About 500 Fitchburg fans went down to see their native son and his new charges. This is Callahan's 22d year in professional ball.

Maranville took nine chances Wednesday without an error and some of them were hard ones. Maranville is the boy that can play this kind.

Ohio has turned out presidents, statesmen and students of a high calibre, but it is not those alone that shine, for some of our favorite sons of west are natives of this state in the Middle West. While Ty Cobb, Ty Speaker or Walter Johnson are not Ohio boys, there are some of whom Ohio is just as proud. Take for instance Hank Gowdy, the hero of the 1914 world's series, who first saw the light of day at Columbus, the capital of the Buckeye state. Bennie Kauff, the Giant rallymaker was born in Middleton, a little town with a harbor on the Ohio river. Carl Weisman, the St. Louis pitcher, who helped the Red Sox to a pennant in 1915 by having the Indian sign on the Detroit Tigers, claims Hamilton as a birthplace. Sieler, the Browns' first sacker, who has the appearance of a second Hal Chase, comes from Akron, the rubber tire capital on Lake Erie. Lee Magee was born in Cincinnati, while his teammate, Roger Peckinpaugh, hails from the timberland of Western. Many think that Leonard, the Red Sox star artist, is a native Californian, but they are wrong again, for the town reports of Birmingham, O., have his name registered in full. Higginsport, a little town that has the honor of having a railroad pass through, although there are only one or two trains a day that stop there, is the home town of Slim Sallee. Mayer, the boy on Pat Moran's team that has a southern accent to his speech, is not a Georgia boy by birth, but moved from Columbus when so small that he left no playmates there. The last that we will mention, but not least, is Jimmy Vois, a side partner of the renowned Tyron. While Vois can't play in his home town, for they don't support an American league team, they are supporting a bunch of Red Legs that are playing a mighty nice game. It is rumored that Johnny Evers, the hero of many a game for the past 12 years, may have to give up the game entirely in a short time, for in the last series against the Giants, Evers was practicing before a game and felt something snap in his salary wing. From then until he took himself out of the game in the Chicago series, his arm caused a great deal of pain. Last week he had the member diagnosed by a physician, who told him that a nerve had slipped out of place and advised him to blister the arm. Trainer Jimmy Neary applied the treatment last Friday and Evers went to his home in Troy, returning Tuesday to the Braves' camp. While he was out in uniform he did very little throwing around and will give the arm a good rest before he tries to get into the battle again.

Harvard is champion. Could Harvard repeat? The New York Nationals climb from the cellar while on the road to the next to the top round and after reaching home they saw the light for about a day and then were pushed down a notch. It is getting to be a daily occurrence for Babe Ruth to get a home run. The one Tuesday was the second in as many days and the third on the trip.

BLAME FLAGMAN AND ENGINEER

Wooden Cars Contributed to the Fatalities at Bradford, R. I., Interstate Commissioners Find.

Washington, June 16.—Blame for the New Haven railroad passenger train wreck at Bradford, R. I., April 17, in which five passengers were killed and seventeen injured, was placed by the interstate commerce commission yesterday on the failure of flagman Conombs and Engineer Mansfield to attend to signals properly.

Old-fashioned wooden cars and gas lights contributed to the fatalities, the report said. It is pointed out that the cars, because of modern steel construction they would not have been destroyed by fire and more lives could have been saved.

The report presents a tabulation of nine accidents on the New Haven since July, 1911, wherein employees failed to obey signals or properly protect their trains as required by rules, and showing that in all sixty-six persons were killed and 475 persons injured.

The recurrence of such distressing accidents, says the report in conclusion, directs attention forcibly to the fact that competent and experienced employees are not infallible, as it is to be noted in each instance that these accidents were due to the same fundamental cause, namely, fallibility of the human element responsible for the safe operation of trains.

AWFUL PAIN FROM RINGWORM ON FACE

Then On Head, Itched Terribly. Very Large, Skin Sore and Inflamed. Had Wet Scales on It.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I felt pimples coming out on my face, then on my head, and I began to scratch them for they itched terribly. The pimples were large and red and after a while they festered and seemed to run together like one great ball and then I knew it was ringworm. The ringworm was very large and the skin was sore and inflamed and had wet scales on it. It felt awful pain and I lost a great deal of sleep."

"I used a number of remedies. Then my hair began to fall out. A friend told me about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I got them as soon as possible. They stopped the itching and falling out of my hair and I only used four cakes of Cuticura Soap and four boxes of Cuticura Ointment and I was healed." JOFFRE'S WORD TO START 'PUSH'

Bonar Law Stirs Paris with Statement King George's Troops Are Ready

LEADERS ARE IN HARMONY

British Army Is in Complete Accord with General Joffre

Paris, June 16.—When General Joffre says the word the British will strike.

Constantly growing reports that the allies are ready for their "big push" against the Germans on all fronts—in Russia, Belgium, France, Italy and Serbia—are strengthened to-day by the interview given out here last night by British Colonial Secretary Bonar Law, delegate to the allies' economic conference, in which he said the British army is in complete accord with General Joffre, the English generalissimo, and was prepared to move whenever the French headquarters so willed.

The statement sets at rest dissatisfaction over British idleness while the French were being so terribly punished at Verdun, and indicates, for the first time since the war began, a British willingness to serve under the supreme French commanders. It is believed this decision was reached at the recent military conference in London, attended by General Joffre, Lord Kitchener's death may have had something to do with it, the British war minister having been opposed to surrendering command to the French.

It is believed the Russian offensive will compel the Austro-German leaders to withdraw large forces from the Anglo-French front, and that the instant the absence of these men is noted, the British and French will begin a general assault all along the line.

The governor thanked her for the spirit of patriotism exhibited by the offer. T. R.'S INJURY NOT SERIOUS.

X-Ray Examination Shows That Several Small Tendons Have Snapped.

New York, June 16.—The X-ray examination made to determine the condition of Theodore Roosevelt, who suffered an attack of pain in his side Wednesday, disclosed that several small tendons attached to one of his ribs had snapped, the colonel told inquirers yesterday. He said that his physician had assured him, however, that the injury due to his violent coughing, was not serious and would heal in a few days if he remained quiet. Colonel Roosevelt does not expect to return to Oyster Bay until to-night.

John C. Greenwood, Progressive national committeeman from Arizona; Robert Ross, former governor of New Hampshire and E. A. Van Valkenberg of Philadelphia called on Mr. Roosevelt yesterday.

Plattsburg Rewards.

The Boston Herald does not like the idea of having colleges take official cognizance of the work students perform at the Plattsburg school. It calls the decision to have this admirable work count toward a degree as "doubtful wisdom." It is afraid the colleges are setting a bad example. "The precedent is bad," it protests, taking courage as its blood warms up a degree or two. "The training which a young man receives at Plattsburg is good for him, and incidentally may be good for his country, but the same may be said of many other things to which an undergraduate is privileged to turn his hand during the long vacation." It compares favorably, say, with service on the summer hotel ball nine or with pushing a chair up and down the board walk at Atlantic City.

But the Plattsburg camp service cannot be classed with "many other things." It is not that sort of service at all. Whoever says it is does not know anything about the serious scientific character of this civilian military school, nor can the person who confuses this arduous, earnest, intensely patriotic service with

FOREST NOTES.

It is estimated that there is enough waste from the sawmills of the South alone to produce twenty thousand tons of paper a day.

Oiled paper has been found to be an excellent material for packing tree seedlings, when shipped in crates. When crates are not used, paper-lined burlap makes a particularly satisfactory wrapper.

The value of livestock dying from disease on the national forest ranges in 1915 was less than $200,000. A majority of the cattlemen are now vaccinating their stock for blackleg, one of the chief loss-causing cattle diseases of the West, and thus preventing the serious losses of the past.

Because of the heavy snowfall last winter, forest rangers found it necessary this spring to remove two feet of snow from the Beaver Creek nursery in Utah, so that the young trees might be uncovered by the time they were needed for spring planting on the national forests of that region. Part of the snow was taken off by use of shovel and pick. By spreading a thin layer of fine soil over another part, the natural melting of the snow was hastened sufficiently to make shoveling unnecessary.
